MUSC Board of Trustees recognize Berkeley County Supervisor Bill Peagler for his work to bring healthcare to rural areas

MONCK'S CORNER, S.C. - (Wednesday, May 23, 2018)- Berkeley County Supervisor Bill Peagler was honored at the MUSC Board of Trustees Meeting, on Friday, May 18, for his work as a public servant and efforts to bring health care to areas of need.

In the resolution presented to Supervisor Bill Peagler, he was recognized as a "tremendous champion for the Medical University of South Carolina (MUSC) by spearheading efforts of primary and specialized rural healthcare coverage to citizens of his county and region."

The resolution also highlighted Supervisor Bill Peagler's work and sacrifice in public service, serving his community as Councilman and Mayor of Moncks Corner, before being elected Berkeley County Supervisor in 2014.

The resolution was presented as a surprise to Supervisor Bill Peagler who had no prior knowledge of the Resolution of Appreciation.

Following the recognition, Supervisor Bill Peagler took pictures with Chairman of the MUSC Board of Trustees Donald Johnson (pictures attached).

"I am truly honored to have received such appreciation for my efforts around the County and region," said Berkeley County Supervisor Bill Peagler. "The surprise recognition is a result of a shared vision of providing healthcare around the community. I look forward to working with MUSC in the future to continue the mission."

"Mr. Peagler was recognized for his vision, hard work, countless contributions to public service, and for being a tremendous champion for the Medical University of South Carolina by spearheading efforts to bring more primary and specialized rural health care coverage to the citizens of his county and region," said MUSC Board of Trustees chairman Donald R. Johnson, II, M.D. "MUSC looks forward to working with Mr. Peagler and the citizens of Berkeley County in the years ahead on providing accessible and innovative health care."
